MARCH & APRIL ARE MOLE CONTROL MONTH!

The ability to control Moles is vital to the success of any residential pest control program. Due to their unique biology, proper initial inspection and selection of the correct treatment method play an important role in your success. Following the steps below will enable you to control Moles for your customer:

Inspect: Identification of active tunnels is the first step to success. Poke holes into the ground where tunnel damage is occurring. Moles are extremely averse to light and will plug any hole that is letting light into a tunnel where they are traveling.

Treat: Return to your account a few days after you have created the holes in each tunnel. Inspect to identify which tunnels have plugged holes. Place Talpirid Mole Worms in each active tunnel at intervals according to the label language. Moles need to consume 80% of their body weight per day to survive and will consume the mole worms in any active tunnels.

This combination of inspection and treatment will result in control and a satisfied customer.
